

Harris Design

Sector Focus: Architecture and Design

When Harris Design, an architecture and interior design firm with a presence across North America, renovated its uptown Dallas, Texas office, the firm worked with Knoll dealer bauhaus to create a dynamic and progressive office that both communicates the firm's vision and is easily adaptable to accommodate future growth. The space features Antenna® Workspaces Big Table with red legs and bright white laminate tops. Glass screens and cantilevered shelves suggest boundaries between workspaces while maintaining a light, open aesthetic.

Sapper® Monitor Arms, which attach to the table's compact center beam and support multiple monitors, integrate seamlessly into a variety of work environments. Generation by Knoll® throughout the open plan office, supports the range of postures and work styles typical in today's office (cover). The reception area features the classic Barcelona® Collection, including table chairs and stools. The adjoining conference room features a marble Pascal Conference table and the environmentally conscious Life® chair (above).
